REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the School Board :

My second annual report—the third report of the superintendent of schools—is herewith presented.

The number of pupils in each of the grades above the first is practically the same as it was after the promotions were made last June. The only losses being in grades four and five, which show a decrease of three and five pupils respectively. Although it is true that there have been many changes in the grades, due to the coming and going of pupils, still it is pleasing to note that both grammar schools are larger than last year and seem likely to increase each year.

The congestion in the first grade has been relieved and all pupils are on full time this year. There probably will be no excessive crowding of these grades for a time at least, although, as I have mentioned above, the changes in population make any estimate of uncertain value.

It will always be true that many of our pupils will obtain labor certificates as soon as they reach the age of fourteen, but if we can decrease the retardation in the lower grades, a majority of them will not be fourteen until they are in the grammar schools, instead of being in the fourth and third grades, or even in the second, as at present. The teachers of the first two grades have devoted the time after the dismissal of their classes to teaching the non-English speaking children to speak and understand English. It ought not to be necessary to employ an interpreter to talk with pupils who have been in our schools two or more years.

This year the "State Program of Studies for Elementary Schools" has been followed more closely in the outside schools as well as in the grades, and we are trying, as far as possible, to give the pupils in the outside schools the same work that is accomplished in the grades. Of course the teacher cannot give as much time to each class, but by careful assignment, the individual pupil can be given a chance to cover the full work of his grade.

There have been material improvements in the physical surroundings of the pupils this year. The interiors of numbers four, seven and nine have been painted and the ceilings whitened, also the sub-grammar room at number two. The seats in the last mentioned school have been rearranged to give the stronger light on the pupils' left.

New adjustable seats and desks have been purchased for the third grade, which exchanged rooms with the second grade. The old third grade seats were of the right size for grade two, and the old grade two seats were, with additional ones purchased, placed in the grade one room, replacing the arm chairs and narrow desks of that room. Number three and number nine schools are supplied with adjustable furniture, and ultimately it should be purchased for all the schools. Any visitor to the Primary school will notice the advantages of the adjustable seats and desks.

Necessary changes in the plumbing made it desirable to change the toilet rooms in the basement of the Primary school, and incidentally a great improvement was made in the size, lighting and ventilation of these rooms. The fire escape on the wooden building has been constructed, and it has been used in practice drills. Fire drills are held frequently, and the building can be cleared in about one minute.

The installation of "bubbling" drinking fountains at both number two building and at number seven school has been made, and the other schools provided with covered water tanks, with faucets.

The teachers of the outside schools have taken hold of the problem of school grounds and outbuildings, and are to be commended for their efficient work. Our village playgrounds are overcrowded, and I shall ask the co-operation of the teachers this spring in an effort to equalize the opportunities for play of the children of different ages, and to a certain extent oversee the outdoor portion of our school day.

Much of the blackboard surface is poor, and if we could have some slate boards purchased each year we should ultimately have a permanent and satisfactory blackboard equipment.

The Waterbury-Waterman Co., at their own expense and risk installed a "Ventilating Stove" at number seven the first week of the year. We have found it a most satisfactory method of heating and ventilating. It draws fresh air from outside, circulates and warms the air in the room, and provides an outlet for foul air. It is economical in operation, and requires practically no attention during hours, and with it we have secured uniform heat at an desired temperature, and the school-room is warm at nine o'clock. We have kept a record of temperature and of the amount of fuel consumed, and find that there is a marked saving over the ordinary stove. The school-room is large, thirty by thirty-two feet, and not a particularly warm room, but for the past three weeks the average amount of coal burned has been eight hodsful per week. The purchase of this stove is much to be desired.

Tests of vision and hearing have been made by the teachers and, where advisable, parents have been notified of the need of consulting a competent oculist.

In all schools but the primary and number four, there have been thirty-nine weeks of school, not to lengthen the July to July year, but to change the vacations so as to avoid having school the last of February and the first of March and to shorten the spring term to thirteen weeks, commencing the twentieth of March this year. The primary schools and number four were closed on account of sickness in the fall and are now completing their terms.

To the faithful and unselfish effort of our teachers is due the excellent progress made this year, and I would express my appreciation of their willingness to undertake any service for the interest of their schools.

The report of the supervisor of music and drawing is appended to this report. Respectfully submitted,

JAMES N. PRINGLE,
Superintendent of Schools.

East Jaffrey, N. H., Feb. 15, 1911.

Mr. J. N. Pringle, Superintendent of Schools:

One great aim in school music is to make a music-loving people and a nation of singers. If children are taught to understand good music they will always love it. Every child should be carefully watched to keep the tones soft and pure. With this end in aim, I am working along these lines:

In the first grade rote songs are taught from "The Modern Music Primer" and "The Child's First Studies in Music." Work began with the simplest keys, notes and rests, including individual scale and interval work daily.

The study of keys, notes and rests have been continued in the second grade. There are rote songs and exercises taught from the blackboard. During the winter term almost all of the work is based upon the "Introductory Sight-Singing Melodies."

The third grade is working in the new educational music course first reader. Sight-singing and music writing is required. A careful review of work completed in the other grades is made.

Individual sight-singing is a feature of the fourth grade. Text book used is the second reader with supplementary work in the second series by S. A. Weaver. Two-part music is begun in this grade.

Three-part music based upon the third reader is introduced in the fifth and sixth grades. Sight-singing, transposing and written work is carried on.

In the seventh and eighth grades the pupils are studying the lives of our famous music composers. A review of the work done in the previous grades is made.

The interest shown in the high school is very gratifying. I have organized a mixed quartet. The books used for chorus work are "The Corona" and "Abridged Academy Song-Book."

In Drawing, the work began with the usual drawing from nature. Drawings of fall flowers and fruits in pencil and color were made.

In the lower grades, measuring, object drawing and illustrative work has been taken up. Water-color work began this year in the fourth grade. The work in the upper grades consists of object drawing, working drawings, shadowing and water-color paintings. In connection with the latter the children have taken especial interest in stencil work. The seventh and eighth grades have had a few lessons in charcoal. Freehand drawing necessarily comes into the course in all the schools in connection with other branches.

In the rural schools the same outlines have been used as near as possible.

It gives me pleasure to see the parents and friends of the children in the school-room, as it is there the best work can be seen.

To our superintendent, teachers and pupils I wish to express sincere thanks for the interest shown and the kindly support given me since I have taken up my duties in Jaffrey.

Respectfully submitted,

AMY B. KNEELAND,

Supervisor of Music and Drawing.
